

Title: Engineer

We are seeking a highly motivated and interested in Robotics/ AMR engineer.

Responsible for installation, system integration, set-up, troubleshooting of autonomous mobile robot(AMR) systems. And to conduct training and support for partner/distributors' engineers and technicians.

Job Scope:

Customize, system integration, installation, troubleshooting of autonomous mobile robot systems. Setting up control / monitoring systems, troubleshooting and resolving any technical issues that arise with the robots.

Conducting training sessions for clients and partner/distributor engineers and technicians, to teach them how to set up AMR operation for their customers.

Collaborating with the sales team to identify potential upsell opportunities and provide technical support during the sales process.

Participating in research and development projects to improve the company's robotics products and services. Making technical documentation.

Travelling domestically and internationally to provide on-site support and training.

Requirements:

A degree or diploma in robotics or computer science, or a related field.

Strong problem-solving skills and the ability to analyze and address potential equipment failures. Knowledge and experience in automation, automated guided vehicle (AGV), and autonomous mobile robot (AMR) systems.

General knowledge with programming, network (TCP/IP). Excellent communication and interpersonal skills to effectively train and collaborate with clients and colleagues.

Willingness to travel domestically and internationally for work.

Language: English

Work location: Tsukuba, Japan / Singapore

Doog Inc. / Doog International Pte. Ltd.